

Sponsor WiDS Chicago 2025

WiDS Chicago is an independent event organized by a team of Chicago-based data scientists in industry and academia to coincide with the annual Women in Data Science (WiDS) Worldwide Conference.

WiDS aims to inspire and educate data scientists worldwide and support women in the field by providing an opportunity to hear about the latest data science research and applications while connecting with peers and leaders.

WiDS Chicago 2025 will be held in the spring in downtown Chicago with space for at least 100-200 attendees. The event will consist of a panel, talks from prominent female data scientists, and networking opportunities.

We are seeking funding for the venue, food, drinks, and swag. Specifically, a conference-style space with the ability to project audio and a screen to the audience, appetizers and drinks for the networking hour, branded conference swag for attendees, and speaker gifts.

Sponsorship Benefits:

- Branded recognition for your company, products, and services
- Support and inspiration for women in data science — support your current and future employees
- Opportunity to align corporate goals and initiatives with specific events

$500 Level

Your company name and/or logo will be listed in the program, slides, and on the website.

$1,000 & Up

In addition to your logo on our materials, you will be able to set up a table or booth at our event for networking opportunities.
